

Perception 3

for any instrument

A very soft sound, as short as possible, without being staccato.

A ten second pause.

The same sound, this time just a little longer.

Another (ten second) pause.

This continues until the point at which the sound seems to have a clear duration (at the point of distinction between “sounding” and “sustaining”).

Longer pause.

The entire process is then repeated.